GRANT COUNTY

And Silver City Paid a Handsome

Compliment by the Bureau of Immigration of This Territory.

A Brief Resume of the Work.

The Bureau of Immigration, through its efficient secretary, Max Frost, of Santa Fe, has just issued a handsome handbook of 344 pages, showing the resources, climate, geography, geology, history, statistics and future prospects of this Territory up to December 15, 1893. The work is embellished with fine engravings of the principal cities, mountains, valleys, mining camps, ranches, fruit farms and the numerous beautiful scenes and pleasure resorts which abound in this salubrious climate and future eldorado of the southwest.

A flattering tribute is paid to Grant County's wealth producing resources, her incomparable sanitary advantages, beautiful scenery, broad ranges, bright, rapid rivers and enterprising people. We are credited with 200,000 head of cattle and numerous flocks of sheep upon our ranges; an annual production of $1,000,000 in gold bullion and $800,000 in silver ore, besides rich mines of lead, copper, opals, turquoise and other rare and valuable gemstones.

We find the following in regard to Silver City:

The county seat is Silver City, situated at the foot of Pinos Altos, in the beautiful Chihuahuan valley. All the northern half of the county and parts of Socorro county and Arizona are directly tributary to it, and it outlives dozens of surrounding camps. It lies at the end of a branch line of the Santa Fe road, and enjoys the advantages accruing to every large supply depot. Its banks, court house, hospitals, stores, public schools, hotels and other buildings of a public and semi-public character would do credit to an eastern county seat. Since the opening of the Santa Rita copper mines in 1890 it has been a town site, but the energy of the last decade has done more for its advancement than all the previous years. Situated as it is, surrounded by mills and concentrators, almost in the very center of the mining region, its stability and prosperity are assured. Large business blocks are built or projected, and during the year 1893 about twenty-five business houses and handsome residences were built within the city limits. It has a number of fine and comfortable hotels, its waterworks, lying about two miles from town, assure the city not only of a good and pure supply of water, but also of a constant pressure in the fire hydrants of 14 pounds to the inch, immunity from the ravages of that dangerous element is certain. The water is pumped to a high reservoir by powerful machinery. It is taken from a tunnel, which drifts across bed rock the full width of the valley. Under anything like ordinary circumstances the supply is more than ample. Building material is very cheap as the local quarries contain furnish lumber and stones of the best character.

This method of developing a water supply is worthy of a complete and technical description. Space however does not permit this. The water is stopped on the bed rock by sub-drains. This underdrainage is an important factor in the economic development of the arid west. Silver City is a notable example. Not only has she an ample supply for domestic and sanitary purposes, but she is independent on chance showers, but through her pumping system she is relieved as much as possible from danger of drouth.

The court house, the hospitals, the fine blocks that line the business streets, the churches, the commodious and comfortable hotels, of which there are four, give the city a metropolitan air. The salubrious climate makes good the local claim as a sanitarium. Situated at about 6,000 feet elevation, at about 35 degrees 15 seconds north latitude, protected by snow-capped mountains, all the conditions are perfect for the preservation of health or the restoration of the invalid to sound physical existence. The springs are early and winters mild, while the summers are never torrid. The latitude is the same as that of the northern coast of the Gulf of Mexico, but the heat is tempered by an elevation of more than a mile above the sea. The air is cooled, and the influence of the pine forests is felt like balsam in every breath. The invalid who settles here will find his interest in life reviving. He will mix with a brainy, cultured populace, and in a short time will find himself a useful member of a growing and thriving community. Silver City has a wonderfully bright future.

A Loaded Farm.

For many years a sandy mound on the H. A. Maize farm, just south of this city, has been known as the hiding place of the fox. This winter the animals have been unusually numerous and created so great a nuisance that the farmers held a meeting and decided to blow up the mound and rid themselves of the pests. A large quantity of dynamite was purchased, and four large charges were put into the ground. For some reason the fuses failed to discharge the explosive, and the stuff is now buried in a mound. The mound is one of the most productive spots on the farm
